COOKS—PROFESSIONAL MEN.

The question as to whether cooking is a profession and cooks are artists is to come up in the United States courts soon. Recently Jean Milton, chef at the Ritz Carleton Hotel in New York, was indicted under the contract labor law for hiring eighty cooks through agents in France.

This marks the first step in what is supposed to be a Government crusade against the practice of importing cooks. The big hotels and restaurants are going to fight the case on the ground that such employees as cooks and chefs do not come under the law. Cooks are artists, say the hotel men, not laborers.

This case offers an opportunity for the courts to decide what is a profession. Many classes of workmen seem to make the same error as the artistic (?) cooks.

RED CROSS SEALS.

"Help us double-cross tuberculosis," is the slogan being used in many cities where the Red Cross Christmas seals are now on sale. The proceeds of these penny bits of gummed paper with their Christmas greeting of holiday cheer are used by the National Society for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis.

Everyone knows the danger of tuberculosis, but besides guarding against its contagion in their immediate family, few people know just how to help in the fight against this evil. The Anti-Tuberculosis Society has provided this ready and attractive way of doing the good work.

The coins paid for these stamps are never missed. Each letter and package sent out at this season with the stamps on the reverse side is truly eloquent of the spirit of Christmas for both giver and sender. And the money aids in bringing health for sickness, joy for sorrow.

The Red Cross stamps are on sale in Columbia now. Wouldn't your Christmas mail be a little better worth sending with these little stamps attached?

"MODERNIZING" SHAKESPEARE.

News Note:—In the new production by Sothorn and Marlowe of "The Taming of the Shrew," Modern slang such as "believe me" and "good night" is used instead of Shakespearean slang.

We thought it had gone far enough. But now they are making the immortal William say it, too. We are speaking of that favorite expression of all our friends, "Believe me." Now most, though not all who use it, really need to ask the credence of the public for anything they may say. But still, the form has grown a little wearisome without the substance.

In our youth we would no more have thought of disputing the truth of anything the Bard of Avon had to say than we would have thought of correcting his grammar or slang. But now when we hear some of his characters ordering us in very imperative terms to "Believe them" we are likely to begin at once to doubt the truth and wisdom contained in some of these familiar aphorisms.

Of course the reason given for this modernization is that Shakespeare himself paved the way for any and all such ephemeral slang of his time. But what about the dramatic effect of this upon the audience at a production of Macbeth: "Believe me." If 'twere done when 'tis done," or "Out, out brief candle. GOOD N-I-G-H-T!"

MORE USES FOR THE MOVIES.

Still more uses are being found for motion pictures and the limit of the good to be derived from them is not yet in sight.

The new suffrage law in Italy doubles the electorate and the newly enfranchised people know nothing of how to vote. Motion pictures are used to teach them the process from receiving the ballot to depositing it in the box.

Uncle Sam has lately undertaken to teach the National Guard the fine points of warfare by motion pictures of infantry, cavalry and artillery forces in action, made under ideal conditions and as realistic as possible.

As a means of finding lost persons, motion pictures have been successfully used. It is said that the same means to locate criminals would be much more effective than the method of keeping a rogues' gallery of photographs because more would see the criminal's picture and he could be shown in action, making the possibilities of recognition greater.

As an aid to school lectures and other educational work, motion pictures have been found valuable and their use in this line is sure to increase. At Kansas City a pastor is planning to extend the work of his church and create a new interest in it by showing free motion pictures in the church building. In creating civic ideals the pictures can do a great deal in the way of showing new and improved methods of building, guarding public health and presenting the bad and good features of cities.

HOCKEY LETTERS AWARDED

Sixty-Five Numerals Awarded to Women Athletes.

One hundred and fifty programs have been ordered for the "kid" party that the Women's Athletic Association will give next Tuesday. The party will be in the Men's Gymnasium from 7:30 to 10:30 o'clock. Dancing, games, a Christmas tree with a present on it for every girl and a Santa Claus to distribute the presents—this is what Miss Lila Dalton, chairman of the entertainment committee promises.

The names of those who made the Varsity Hockey Team and those who won numerals were read last night at the regular meeting of the Association. Those who made the first Varsity team are, Georgena Clarke, Lummie Lynch, Helen Hingate, Bess Arbuthnot, Cora Schulze, Lila Dalton, Hope Hibbard, Margaret Carrington, Ella Smith, Jeanette Maxwell, Sora Barth. TRACK MEN HEAR SCHULTE

Head and Spirit Necessary for Success, He Says.

H. F. Schulte, instructor in physical education, spoke to the track candidates last night in the gymnasium. He emphasized the fact that a man can become a good athlete if he has the head and spirit. He mentioned several Tiger athletes who won their letters without the aid of a fine physique. He asked each man present at the meeting to bring ten other men to the track tryouts Saturday.

Warren W. Brown was elected Captain of the sophomore track team. Last year he broke the old Varsity record in the pole-vault. He urged the sophomores to work for the annual indoor track meet with the freshmen, which will be held in February.

Regular work for the track men will start tomorrow afternoon. Mr. Schulte, or an assistant, will be on the field from 3 o'clock to 5:30 o'clock.
